MINNIE DLAMINI AND THREE OTHER HEAVYWEIGHTS TO HOST THE INAUGURAL MISS WORLD SOUTH AFRICA ON OCTOBER 28

JOHANNESBURG, Sept 21 - Media personality, businesswoman, actress and producer, Minnie Dlamini, will host the inaugural Miss World South Africa finals on October 28 at the State Theatre in Pretoria.

“I admire the many young women like Minnie who have come to epitomise excellence in broadcasting in South Africa. I am also proud of the work she has done to set herself apart from others,” said Carol Bower, founder of Carol Bower Productions, the new licensee and host of Miss World South Africa.

“Minnie is going to be exceptional as host and will be supported by two business dynamos in Zanele Morrison and Shirley van Wyk as well as conversation architect Thami Nkadimeng,” said Bower.

MORRISON

Through her wit, warmth, and a winning personality, business coach, speaker, event host and entrepreneur, Morrison is the perfect person to host conversations. With experience in media and management, television, facilitation, leadership, change and transformation, Morrison is skilled in extracting the right conversations

VAN WYK

Shirley van Wyk has set herself apart as a marketing and communications specialist specialising in the wine, travel and luxury space. Having hosted high net worth events, Van Wyk is credited with transforming the perceptions around local sparkling wines and has been a great ambassador of luxury emanating from the continent.

NKADIMENG

Nkadimeng, a thought leader, is a conversation architect conceptualises who create and delivers messages to a wide range of audiences. Experienced in front of the camera, behind the microphone and addressing an audience, she focuses on zestful and spirited solutions while communicating to individuals on public platforms.
